NIEPA brings out several types of publications in the specialized areas of education policy, planning and administration. It brings out two academic journals - Journal Of Educational Planning And Administration (JEPA) in English and Pariprekhya in Hindi. These two journals are highly valued and they publish externally reviewed articles only. NIEPA is the Secretariat for the Asian network and it publishes its six-monthly News Letter titled ANTRIEP Newsletter.

NIEPA publishes books through commercial publishers. In the past five years the university has published several books through renowned international publishers such as Oxford, Sage, Routledge, Springer, Bloomsbury etc. and several books through national publishers such as Shipra, Gyan and APH. In Addition to these, NIEPA faculty members also have published several books as individual publications through these publishers.

NIEPA has brought out several in-house publications and reports. Every year seminar reports based on the seminars organised by the institute are brought out. 12 such reports have been published by the institute in the past five years. It has published five foundation day lectures and four National Education Day lectures. The university has published more than 57 Occasional papers and 14 Research papers by the CPRHE/NIEPA. The university carries out National Innovation awards functions annually and brings out publications on award winning innovations.

The Institute was one of the first to publish a document titled NEP 2020: Implementation strategies in 2021 to support NEP implementation. Similarly, NIEPA was the secretariat for the National Committee on Credit Transfer and it published the Committee Report in 2021. The programmes such as School leadership published several training modules and documents. Similarly, Shaala Siddhi programmes also brings out several publications.

In addition to these institutional publications, NIEPA faculty members publish widely in international and national journals and books published by prestigious publishers. However, many pioneering contributions of the institution and faculty may not exactly fit into quantified bibliometrics of the publications and Citation Index in Scopus/Web of Science/PubMed

3.4.9 Bibliometrics of the publications during the last five years based on Scopus/Web of Science - h-index of the University.

NIEPA publications are in the specialized areas of policy and planning and are heavily relied on policy makers and planners and administrators at school and higher education levels.. The nature of publication ranges from journal articles, books, chapters in books, specialized modules and policy briefs. In fact, NIEPA has been able to publish on its website the strategies for implementation of the NEP 2020 which is a standalone contribution of any Indian University. NIEPA also brings out its specialized journal on Education Planning and Administration both in English and Hindi. In the global arena the News Letter ‘ANTRIEP’, is also referred to by fellow nations. Many of our faculty members have good h scores under the ‘h index’. Since planning and administration are specialized fields, most of the publications are consulted by experts and they are not active researchers who may not be publishing and citing these publications by NIEPA. write and cite, but use it extensively in their day-to-day activities. However, some of our faculty members have good ‘h index’ scores. Link for some of institutional publication is given below: <http://www.niepa.ac.in/publications.aspx>. Besides, this the publications included under the criteria on publication may be taken into account.
